

Everyone

by Susan Engle

Everyone laughs
Everyone cries.
Everyone giggles.
Everyone sighs.
No matter our outsides,
Our father or mother,
We really and truly
Belong to each other.

Everyone hurts.
Everyone grins.
Everyone loses.
Everyone wins.
Fat, tall, thin, short, hairy,
One shade or another,
We really and truly
Belong to each other.

Everyone thinks.
Everyone knows.
Everyone touches.
Everyone grows.
More precious to God
Than a daughter or brother ...
We really and truly
Belong to each other.
